COMMISSION ROW PREPARES TO MOVE

Wabash Railroad Has Bought Third Street District for Mammoth Freight Houses.

NOTICES TO VACATE READY

Produce Men Consider Sites, Including Twelfth Street North of Washington Avenue.

The Wabash Railroad, preparing to build an immense freight depot on the east side of North Third street, between Franklin avenue and Carr streets, will compel the removal of the wholesale fruit and commission district from North Third street to another part of the city.

E. P. Pryor, assistant to the Wabash president, informed Charles Gerber, 912 North Third street, Tuesday, that the 40 commission merchants occupying Wabash property in that district would in a day or two receive formal notice to vacate the property, this to which was acquired by the Wabash a little more than two years ago.

The announcement was made informally by Mr. Pryor, who, with Mr. Delano, newly chosen head of the Wabash properties, and a party of company engineers, went to the scene in a private car and viewed the property. Mr. Pryor said that the tenants would be notified to vacate in 30 days, but might be granted 60 days.

This will require a complete shifting of the wholesale produce and fruit district, which for nearly half a century has been that neighborhood. There is no room for the 40 firms to get new quarters in that section, and they will be forced to find another district. They say the 60 other concerns will go with them.

Plans for Moving.

The first result of the informal notice was a meeting, called by Gerber and held Tuesday afternoon in the Fruit and Produce Exchange at Fourth street and Franklin avenue. Most of the commission merchants directly concerned were present. Gerber was made president, and it was decided to form an organization which should take the matter in hand. This organization is called the Produce District Improvement Co., and as soon as the signatures are secured a meeting will be called for the purpose of deciding upon a new commission house district.

It is probable that an effort will be made to persuade the railroad president to grant the commission men six months in which to make their arrangements for moving.

The difficulties in the way of selecting a new district are numerous. At present, it is said, the sentiment seems to favor removal to Twelfth street north of Washington avenue, but this has not by any means been determined upon. The commission men say it is essential that they be on a wide street, in order that they may be room for the multitude of trucks and farmers' wagons which they have to accommodate.

KILLED BY ELECTRIC CAR.

Motorman Says Woman Ran Toward Him on the Track.

An inquest was begun Wednesday into the death of Mrs. Mary Adeline Ashby, 35, who was struck by an electric car near Mount Hope cemetery, on the bluffs, Tuesday night.

Mrs. Ashby had gone to the cemetery to decorate the grave of her son. She was some distance from the car when she saw it approaching and ran on the track toward the platform waving her hand for the car to stop. Motorman W. E. Thompson says he tried to stop the car, but its speed was so great that he could not do so. It struck the woman and she was dragged for 40 feet under the motor box. She was dead when taken out.

Mrs. Ashby lived at 141 College avenue, East St. Louis. She was well known, having lived in the city since 1885. She was survived by eight children. The funeral arrangements will be completed until a daughter arrives from Dallas, Texas.

The Thermalite Bag

Instant Heat Without Fire.

Two times better than a hot water bag and ten times more convenient. The Thermalite Bag stores up heat which can be turned on instantly at any time when wanted. But that is not really the best feature of the bag. The Germans who invented it did so because of the great value of the heat as compared with hot water.

It does not like hot water, keeping getting colder all the time, but remains at the same temperature. Not only that, it is a vitalizing heat.

We are the first to show this wonderful article of usefulness in the West. It is the most convenient remedy in case of neuralgia, rheumatism or inflammation a traveler might have.

"Thermalite" preserves rubber. The bag will outlast several hot water bags. Every one is guaranteed. We have put it on sale at the following prices:

Face Bag $1.25 One quart $1.50 Two quarts $2.00 Three quarts $2.50 Four quarts $3.00 city of 2,000,000 in-

y to the fact that for a long time
the sole outlet, if the wheat and corn country northward, southward and westward of it. It was the only port whence the enormous quantities of cereals brought in by rail could be readily shipped by water, and therefore, cheaply, to Buffalo and to the St. Lawrence. The extraordi-ary railroad extension which began about 50 years ago immensely developed the grain-growing regions of the West, and made them all tributary to Chicago. Commerce brought in manufacturers and manufacturers again stimulated the production of iron, steel and staple raw material of all kinds. The various activities reacted upon one another to assist their common goal. As always happens, until the present metropolis—the second city of the country—is the result of this first grain and second the carriage of that grain that laid the foundation of this stupendous structure of wealth and that still exists.

Manitoba Helps Duluth.
Duluth a city of comparatively recent origin, has been built up by the railroad development of the Northwest and of Manitoba, which opened one of the most fertile agricultural regions of the world to settlement. It is a striking illustration truth that a commercial center business has extended too far will be relieved of a part of it by another place possessing the requisite advantages. Duluth took much of the Northern grain traffic which once went to Chicago; and she took it because she was favorably situated at the very end of the water route which reaches to Buffalo. No railroad freight rate calculator, however, could have foreseen the grain transportation business of the Northwest between Duluth and Chicago in proper proportion—but it divided itself according to the certain and fixed laws of trade.

The story of Minneapolis, St. Louis and Kansas City has much in common with that of Chicago and Duluth. With all these grain-distributing points it might have been supposed that there was no room for more great cities on the rivers of grain, but new fields were being developed and enterprising business men were discovering how to get a share of the trade of today
and capture that of tomorrow.
A year ago Omaha was a farmers' city,
the commercial center of an agricultural region of limited area; but 18 railroads operated lines running into Omaha, and grain and corn passed through the city on its way to the East. The experts of the United States Department of Agriculture, in a publication issued last fall, pointed out that while there are two great routes leading from the grain-growing regions to the seaboard, one ending on the Atlantic coast and the other on the Gulf, there is a section from which merchandise is shipped for export either east or south as circumstances may dictate. Some of the citizens of Omaha, which is situated that it may take advantage of either of the chief routes for the transportation of grain, conceived the idea of making their city a great market and distributing point for the cereals of the far West, which were then passing through the town without bringing it any business. President Stickney of the Chicago Great Western Railway Co. was the first to start the movement by advising the establishment of a grain exchange at Omaha. His proposal was taken up by others and on Feb. 1, 1894, the fully organized exchange opened its operations on the Board of Trade building.

Hard Struggle at First.
For the first few months the new organization had a hard struggle, but American push and energy, together with natural economic conditions, favored its back-ers and they won. The railroads agreed upon a system of rates that made business possible, and Omaha set to work to build up her trade. How successful were the operations of the first year is shown by the fact that in that time the grain exchange handled 15,000,000 bushels, a volume of business that it took the great market of Duluth 10 years to attain. These 15,000,000 bushels of grain came from Nebraska, Kansas, South Dakota, Colorado and Kansas.
All things are happening in that portion of the United States which is the geographical center of the continent. The great increase in the production of grain, for instance, has made the wheat belt put from that State

by no means a negligible quantity and it does to swell the total of Omaha's trade.
It is predicted that the total volume of grain that will eventually pass through Omaha will make her a great city and one of the leading grain markets of the world.
The entrance of Omaha into the competition for the grain trade has led to a readjustment of railroad rates, and because of this fact it is estimated that $2,000,000 was saved to the farmers of Nebraska in the past year, and this in spite of the fact that only 10 per cent of their corn passed through Omaha.
Such advantages come to a city which is merely the depot for the grain traffic, which merely collects, sorts and ships the golden wealth. They are small as compared to the civic rewards that come to the community which goes a step further and builds mills to transform the raw material gathered from grain farms into food for a nation. What the packing houses have done for one city after another, the flour mills and related industries have done for cities that have gone into the manufacture of cereal products.
Four mills were located at Minneapolis because it was feared that the site would provide the necessary water power, and although this hope proved futile, the business has continued to grow because the men and the money were there and the grain could be secured far more cheaply, it is reasonable to suppose that, having become first a distributing point for grain, Omaha, as have the other cities mentioned,
will then become a manufacturing center.
The experience of this one city is only another indication of the fact that the West is still a land of boundless opportunities for the man behind the dollar, and contains places which, now comparatively unknown and destined to be numbered among the leading cities of the future.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 31.—In the face of a threatened injunction and a warning that she would be killed, Nan Paterson appeared at the opera house here last night in "A Romance of Panama," and in the last ten minutes of the performance sang in a weak little voice, her one song.
She received three encores.
She was greeted on her arrival in Wilkes-barre by Mayor Kirtland, who had received a letter from New York from someone signing himself "Avenger," in which it was asserted that Miss Paterson would be killed before midnight.
The actress was frightened but she stuck
to her program.
The injunction was granted to Irwin E.
Pinover, a theatrical manager, who charged that Miss Paterson broke a contract closed with him soon after her second trial. The trouble was patched up after a conference between Pinover's representative and Nan's present manager, and the injunction was dissolved in time for the evening performance.

REVEAL FAMILY SKELETON

Secret Hidden for 15 Years Stolen
From Prominent New Yorkers
With Missives.

BELIEVE SON TOOK THEM

Detectives Lay Theft to Member of Household—Young Man's Love Story Involved.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Offers of $10,000 reward are published here today for the return of a packet of letters said to have been stolen from a private residence of a wealthy and prominent New York family, whose name probably will never be mentioned in connection with the affair, unless a confession should arise from an exposure of its contents.

Incidentally, it is hoped to recover $20,000 worth of jewels and many thousands of dollars' worth of stock certificates, which were stolen at the same time as the letters, and in connection with the letters, a large quantity of jewelry is considered insignificant. Every effort has been made to locate the thief since March 31 and a few days ago an old-fashioned mahogany treasure chest was stolen from a safe where it had for many years held the most valuable of the possessions of the women members of the family.

A scandal in the form of a family skeleton hidden for 15 years from the head of the household is said to have formed the basis of the theft, which is believed to have grown out of a new romance in the family.

The detectives at work on the case say they confidently believe that the son of the household is the thief for whom they are seeking. He is only 23 years old, a graduate of one of the leading universities and a well-known figure at the social functions of the younger set.

His motive is believed to be the necessity of maintaining appearance of having a large income during his engagement to a wealthy young society woman. His own family are opposed to the match and have limited his allowance; hence his desire to acquire funds.

The suspected man left town sometime ago, but he is under close surveillance and the detectives believe that the offer of the rich reward just made will procure the return of the letters.

The contents of these missives is unknown even to the detectives in the case.

TUNNEL VICTIMS UNRESCUED

Men Imprisoned by Cave-In in Colorado Not Yet Dug Out—
Some Are Still Alive.

MONTROSE, Colo., May 31.—No information had been received up to noon today concerning the fate of the 35 workmen imprisoned in the Gunnison reclamation tunnel by a cave-in, or the progress made in the efforts to rescue them, as the Government authorities will not permit correspondents to use the telephone wire to the scene of the accident.

Eight or ten men were at work at the point where the earth came down, and it is feared that most, if not all, of these were killed.

Several hundred men have been employed in three-minute shifts in the rescue work. The cave-in occurred 30 feet from Cedar Creek and the channel of the creek has been changed to remove any chance of the water percolating into the tunnel and drowning the imprisoned men. Signaling the air-pipe by striking with a hammer answers signals from those imprisoned.

BELASCO SEEKS MORE PLAYERS

New York Waits the Coming of Lee Shubert, Awaiting Expected Developments.

The activities of David Belasco and the coming of Lee Shubert to London are the chief subjects of interest in New York theatrical circles. Belasco has added Bertha Gaudand and Robert Hilliard to his list of players within the last few weeks, and it is understood that he is negotiating with others who will probably join him within the next month.

What Lee Shubert will do when he reaches New York is much speculated upon. It is the surmise of many that he will enter at once into an alliance with Belasco, confirming the understanding that this had been the plan of the Shuberts at the time of the death of the head of the firm, Sam Shubert. Others are inclined to believe that Lee Shubert may not prove so venturesome as to ally himself with the independent and attempt another syndicate in opposition to the theatrical trust. At any rate, there is great eagerness in New York to know what he will do.

What Belasco will do with the players he is signing, if the Shubert theaters are not opened to him next season, is a puzzle.

The Pavilion Stock Company, which is producing plays in the Hebrew tongue at the Crawford Theater, will give Tolstoy's drama, "Kreutzer Sonata," its first St. Louis production next Sunday night. Blanch Walsh played this piece last season, but she did not come here with it, so that this Jewish adaptation of it will be the first production for St. Louis of the notable Russian's story. On Friday night of this week the company will play "A Broken Heart." The company is under the management of Novaislavsky and Rosenblum, who also have a Yiddish dramatic company playing at Chicago.

The Imperial Theater is having a prosperous supplementary season, the Esther Rujaero stock company being favorably received in every play offered. "Reconstruction," the current play, is attracting large audiences, and Miss Rujaero is seen to excellent advantage. Next Sunday matinee and week "The Butterflies," or "Mothers," will be presented, with Miss Rujaero in the leading role, supported by Miss Eloise French, Mr. Leon McReynolds and the full company.

Prof. Herman Baroch will give a vocal concert at the Odeon recital hall next Tuesday evening, June 6.

A Japanese musical and literary entertainment will be given at the Odeon next Tuesday night, June 6. The chief feature will be Japanese dancing by Mrs. Yamao. Other Japanese will sing, fence and declaim in the Japanese fashion.

The company at Suburban Garden is offering their musical success, "Sweet Sixteen," and is presenting a large audience. Miss Hazel Boyne, a petite little sourette, and late of the Eva Tangany company, is cast in the title role, and easily carries off the honors of the performance. Richard Thomas, another newcomer, sings several songs in a pleasant manner, and his novel methods earn him much applause from the audience.

"Funny Mr. Hooligan," another musical absurdity, will be the offering of the company next week.

An added feature to next week's performance will be the engagement of the famous Grah family, consisting of father, three sons and daughter, in their black wire act. They have just returned from a tour of England and Australia.

ATLANTIC ARRIVES AT SOUTHAMPTON

Winner of Kaiser's Cup Dry-Docked Preparing for Another Race.

SOUTHAMPTON, May 31.—The American three-masted auxiliary schooner Atlantic, winner of Emperor William's cup, arrived here early this morning, flying the stars and stripes.

She soon attracted a crowd of admirers to the quay. Wilson Marshall, owner of the yacht, was full of praise for Capt. Barr's splendid handling of the schooner and attributed her victory to Barr's remarkable seamanship. Barr himself was specially pleased and announced that the Atlantic had beaten the Endeavour's record in the Needles of 13 days, 20 hours and 30 minutes from Sandy Hook. He paid tribute to the crew of the Atlantic and their smart work throughout.

Later in the day the Atlantic was taken into drydock for a cleaning preparatory to competing in the Dover-Hellgoland race, which Barr says he calculates on winning. Hundreds of congratulatory telegrams have been received by the owner and commander of the Atlantic.

The British steamer Vancouver, which arrived at Liverpool today from Portland, Me., spoke the two-masted schooner-yacht Endeavour, May 25, in lat. 45, long. 38, and the auxiliary three-masted schooner Sunbeam, May 26, in lat. 47 and long. 31, both contestants in the transatlantic race.

The English yacht Yachtsman, one of the contestants in the transatlantic race, was sighted this morning, 20 miles southwest of the Scilly Islands.

ARMOR SCARED BOY THIEF.

ANTONEY Daulby, 11 years old, is still held at the East St. Louis Police Station in the hope that he will confess to a part in other robberies than those he has already confessed to. He has admitted robbing a lodge hall and a Chinese laundry.

He told Lieut. Doyle Tuesday afternoon that he entered the A. C. W. lodge hall on the third floor of the Music Hall Building and ransacked the lockers, getting 80 cents. He was frightened away by coming upon a suit of armor in a locker.

He says he went to the laundry of Lee Sing at 17 South Main street to get a parcel, and finding nobody there he took a watch, a revolver, a knife, a ring and 10 cents, and also broke open a pre-payment gas register and took 50 cents.

RUNAWAY BOY TAKEN HOME

Father of Youthful Race Patron
Came After Him.

Matthew R. Smith, a wealthy lumber dealer of Kansas City, arrived in St. Louis Wednesday and took charge of his 16-year-old son, Walter Smith, who was held at the Four Courts on suspicion of having run away from his home and father and son returned at once to Kansas City.

The lad was arrested at Union Station Monday night by Policeman Schmolinski and gave his name as Willie Langley and his address as 2416 Michigan avenue, Chicago, claiming to be the chairman of the Chicago lumber dealer, a neighbor of J. Ogden Armour. He had been playing the races in St. Louis and was arrested while figuring the "dops" on the Union races when arrested. Later his real name and father's address were ascertained. The boy left home because he was tired of attending school.

KANSAS HEALS ITS PRAIRIE DOG EVIL

Black-Footed Ferret Found to Kill and Drive Away the Devastator.

ISOLVES A HARD PROBLEM

Legislature Spent Thousands Searching for a Cure and Could Suggest Only Strychnine.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 31.—An animal known as the black-footed ferret is doing more to rid Western Kansas of prairie dogs than was done by the corps of instructors at the State Agricultural College with an appropriation of $6000 from the Legislature. This is according to the statements of residents of the western counties. Instances are cited by D. E. Conitz, field agent of the State Agricultural College, in a recent report on Kansas mammals. The ferret made its appearance in Kansas only about two years ago, but Mr. Lantz has found instances where five or six of them drove all of the prairie dogs out of a county.

The Legislature has been trying for several years to assist the Western Kansas stockmen and farmers in driving prairie dogs from their property. The Legislature of 1901 appropriated $6000 to be used by the Agricultural College in a series of experiments to determine the most effective means of ridding the State of prairie dogs. When the money had been expended it was found that the strychnine which the farmers had used for years was the most deadly poison and the cheapest. It was found, however, that even the plentiful use of this poison did not drive out all the dogs. By the time the farmers were about to despair of ridding the State of the pests, the ferret made its appearance in the prairie. The curiosity of the little animal made it an easy prey to the hunters. It would drive into a dog hole on the approach of a hunter and then stick its head out to look at the enemy. Because of this peculiarity many were killed before the farmers began to learn that they were valuable. Mr. Lantz says of the ferret:

"It is much larger than an ordinary weasel, has a very long body and is of a solid, yellowish-brown color, with a black patch on the forehead, including the eyes and extending downward to the tip of the nose. It is closely furred and its feet are covered with hair above and below. The feet and legs are black, as is also about two inches of the tip of the tail. The ferret is found in the western third of Kansas and as far out as the Rocky Mountains. Its food consists of rabbits and prairie dogs. It has come to be known in the western part of the State as the prairie-dog ferret."

DOPED AT SODA STANDS

CLEVELAND, O., June 2.—"Many school children are taking too much stimulant and too little healthy, body-building food. Many are weak, tired, half sleepy and unable to advance as rapidly as they should in their studies. They lose their brightness and intelligence."

Dr. M. Lowenthal of this city made this statement. Dr. Lowenthal had previously held a consultation with School Director Orr.

"The children are given too much tea and coffee," said Dr. Lowenthal, "some take beer and whiskey in their homes, and parents think nothing of it. They receive this artificial stimulation, and sooner or later it wears them down."

"The little ones are also 'doped' at the soda fountain. Various drinks contain drugs which, if taken continually, will fasten the appetite upon a child and ruin its life."

Dr. Lowenthal promised to take some action to remedy this evil.

ARREST THE QUEEN OF LITHUANIANS

Mrs. Joseph Sorotch of East St.
Louis Denies Keeping Saloon
Open After Midnight.

The heavy hand of the law has fallen upon the Queen of the Lithuanians, at Zion's Tabernacle. She will remain in St. Louis for a few days. Rev. Gay was pastor of a leading Lithuanian church, Montgomery, Ala., and the widow of the former Lithuanian King, who was killed in his saloon at 411 Collinsville avenue while she stood behind him last January, is the troubled Queen. Since her husband's death she has been conducting the saloon.

Mrs. Sorotch says her arrest was due solely to the fact that, after the saloon was closed and the doors locked at midnight, Sunday, she remained in the saloon, wash the beer and the port wine. She is closed, promptly, and more liquor was sold, she admitted.

Mrs. Sorotch, 39 years old, was arrested by St. Louis police officers. See our windows for boys' and girls' tan shoes.

at the end of the term. No exception will be made to this rule and no concessions will be granted the lessee for placing upon the land improvements in excess of those named.
All leases must be approved by the Secretary of the Interior, and no subleasing will be permitted without his sanction. The rents must be paid in two equal semi-annual installments, in advance, on July 1 and January 1 of each year. The lessee will be required to furnish security in an amount equal to one year's annual rental conditioned upon the faithful performance of the terms of the lease. Everything being satisfactory, it is proposed to award each particular tract to the bidder proposing to pay the highest price; the right is reserved, however, to reject any and all bids, or any part of a bid, if deemed for the best interests of the Indians.
Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or draft upon some United States depository or solvent national bank in the vicinity of the bidder's place of residence, made payable to the order of the United States Indian agent, for at least 5 per cent of the entire amount of the proposal, which check or draft will be retained to the United States, for the use and benefit of the Kiowa, Comanche and Apache Indians, in case any bidder receiving an award shall fail to enter into the prescribed lease and to furnish suitable bond conditional upon the faithful performance of the terms of the lease.

Soil Very Productive.

Bids for agricultural leases must be filed with Col. Randlett in Anadarko, where they will be opened. Bids for grazing purposes only, the lease to begin July 1, 1936, and run two years, will be received on subdivisions H, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S and T in reserve pasture No. 1 and awarded by the Secretary of the Interior in Washington, June 7.
The opening of these pasture lands to agricultural development will not only put into cultivation thousands of acres of rich land that heretofore has been used exclusively for grazing purposes, but will provide homes for a large number of families and increase heavily the agricultural output of southwestern Oklahoma. The lands are in and contiguous to the valley of Red River and generally are highly productive. The soil is deep and the climate good. Corn, wheat and especially cotton are the staple crops.
Prospective bidders complain that the condition giving to the tribal owners the land all improvements at the expiration of the lease is hard, as no person could afford to make such improvements as would enable them to farm the land profitably and then sacrifice them at the end of three and a half years. The objection grows stronger when it is known that no assurance is given that the lessee will have a preference right in re-letting.

POLICE SWARM BANK; FIND NO BURGLARS

Answering Alarm From South Side Institution They Find
Cashier Counting Money.

A long-unused electric burglar alarm connecting the South Side Bank at Broadway and Postoffice street with the Wyoming Street Police Station, five blocks away, grew weary of doing nothing Wednesday,
and at 10 a. m. got busy.
Capt. Boyd and two patrolmen were in the office when the big gong in the captain's office began to ring vigorously. Capt.
Boyd started on a run for the wagon, calling the two patrolmen, the turnkey, the janitor and the clerks in the office to join him.
The wagon made a mad dash to the bank, and the policemen piled out in a heap and rushed in upon Cashier Meier, who was placidly counting money. It was a question whether Capt. Boyd or Cashier Meier was the more surprised. Mr. Meier said there was no trouble, and he knew of no reason why the alarm should have been sounded.
The push button by which the alarm is sounded is concealed under the cashier's window and tests show that it was impossible for it to have been pressed accidentally. It is believed the wire had become crossed with another wire in some place, and a corps of repair men was sent to straighten it out.
Adolphus Busch is the principal owner of the bank.

QUARREL OVER BEER COST BLANKMAN $5

Saloonkeeper Did Not Want Sunday Supply Kept on His Premises.

Charles Gleason, who rents a shop in the rear of John B. Blankman's saloon at 288 North Broadway, and has a living room
over the saloon, appeared in Dayton Street Police Court Wednesday morning as complainant against Blankman. He said that last Saturday, knowing that Sunday would be a dry season, he bought a keg of beer and sequestered it in the shed. He figured that the beer would make him a popular citizen next day. Blankman learned of his premise. Then Gleason said he would take the Sunday beverage to his room.

Again Blankman raised an objection and Policeman Quinn was called and placed the saloonkeeper under arrest. He explained in court that he could not afford to take chances of having his license revoked by permitting a keg of beer to remain in his shed over Sunday, even if it were intended solely for the use of Mr. Gleason and his family.
"Let me explain further," said Mr. Gleason. "A week ago I bought a case of beer
from Blankman and he refused to let me take it. He said it was Sunday and he helped me drink it on Sunday. The beer was not good and my popularity was on the verge of disaster. He said he would let me have it last Saturday. Blankman became angry and called me names."
"I am not interested in the beer," replied Judge Pollard, "and I don't care whether it was good or bad. But the evidence shows that Blankman called Gleason names contrary to the ordinances, and Blankman is fined $5."

KICKED IN HIS DREAMS.

Struck His Foot Against Wall and Now Mullins Is Lame.

PHENIX CITY, Ariz., May 31.—J. L. Mullins, a well-known citizen, is nursing a sore foot as the result of a very vivid dream.
Saturday night he had some trouble in selecting negroes from his saloon. About 5 o'clock Sunday morning he dreamed that he was in the bar again, and that in his effort to get one of the negroes out he kicked at him.
It must have been a desperate kick, for when Mr. Mullins awoke he had landed his foot against the wall by the side of his bed with such force that he has been badly crippled ever since.
Mr. Mullins states emphatically that his dream was not the result of a drunken climax. Mr. Parker, it will be recalled, his initials are not known to your correspondent
—dreamed a lie.

TODAY MAY CLOSE EQUITABLE'S WAR

Frick Investigating Committee to Report to Directors Plan for Settlement of the Row.

INGALLS MAY BE NEW HEAD

Former President of the Big Four Railroad States for Executive Board Chairman.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 31.—If the plans of the Frick investigating committee go through at the meeting of the directors of the Equitable Assurance Society, Metville E. Ingalls, former president of the "Big Four" and one of the best-known railroad men in the country, will be the actual head of the society, though James W. Alexander will retain the office of president.

Mr. Ingalls is a member of the Frick Investigating Committee and is one of the supporters of Mr. Hyde. He is very friendly with E. H. Harriman, who has been Mr. Hyde's chief adviser in the Equitable fight. The Frick report is said to be very strongly drawn in that it will find nothing very commendable in the conduct of either James H. Hyde or James W. Alexander, but it will show anything but mercy to Gage E. Tarbell, the second vice-president.

Friends of Mr. Tarbell were told this morning that he was to be made "the goat" and they declared that if the attempt were made Tarbell would mix in the Equitable fight in a way that would keep the scandal a live issue for many months.

A fight may be made in the meeting when Mr. Ingalls' name is mentioned as Chairman of the Board, and he will be asked to explain his relations with an Equitable agent named Dinkelspiel, with whom he is said to have had financial dealings.

What the Frick report will have to say about the $100,000 salary paid to young Mr. Hyde and the salaries paid him as Vice-President of the Equitable Trust and the Mercantile Trust, both of which are controlled by the Hyde family, is a matter which has aroused much curiosity. It is not expected that the report will ensure the dummy directors in the Equitable's board. Mr. Frick himself is alleged to be one of these.

The committee is regarded as a Hyde committee. Three of the five members, H. C. Frick, E. H. Harriman and Metville E. Ingalls, are out and out Hyde. Cornelius N. Bliss and Brynston lives are supporters of President Alexander.

Today's meeting is expected to settle the Equitable war, but whether these expectations are realized is a question. It is a fact that the Alexander and the Hyde factions are more bitter toward each other than at any time since the fight began. In view of this any settlement which continues Mr. Alexander, Mr. Hyde and Mr. Tarbell in office is not expected to be enduring.

The use of an ordinary purgative or laxative is a very ticklish affair. Being made to force the liver to action rather than to assist nature in a natural way, the doses for men, women or children must be very accurately measured or the results are painful and dangerous—HEPTOL SPLITS assists—never forces—gentle yet always effective—the perfect laxative for men, women and children.

SCARRITT SAYS TO BETRAY OF WRATH

Ex-President of Automobile Club of America Warns Against Reckless Driving.

PUBLIC PATIENCE LIMITED

And the End Is About Reached When Careless Running Will Be Punished.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Winthrop E. Scarritt, former President of the Automobile Club of America and a recognized authority on automobile legislation, makes the startling prediction that unless automobilists show more consideration for the rights of the highways the public will arise in its might to drive them from the roads.

He makes a strong appeal to all owners and drivers of motor vehicles for carefulness in the use of the highways and for the courteous treatment of all persons using the highways.

"On the elevated train this morning," said Mr. Scarritt yesterday, "I met one of the irresponsible and reckless drivers of the highway who will all be brought into condemnation by an outraged public and suffer severe penalties."

"I submit to the automobilists that if this broad-minded lawyer, accustomed to weigh evidence and to weigh his words, feels thus on the question of reckless driving of automobiles, what may we not expect from the average man who thinks with less power of discrimination? The very accident on the highway makes tighter the tension between the great public and the automobilist. Let these accidents continue, and an enraged and outraged public will rise in their might and drive us from the highway. Theoretically we have much right in the roads as any other users, but practically the public can make it so unpleasant for us that we would abandon automobilism."

Must Check the Irresponsible.

"He said other things equally strong and equally bitter, and added unless you responsible automobilists combine to check the irresponsible and reckless drivers on the highway you will all be brought into condemnation by an outraged public and suffer severe penalties."

"I submit to the automobilists that if this broad-minded lawyer, accustomed to weigh evidence and to weigh his words, feels thus on the question of reckless driving of automobiles, what may we not expect from the average man who thinks with less power of discrimination? Let these accidents continue, and an enraged and outraged public will rise in their might and drive us from the highway. Theoretically we have much right in the roads as any other users, but practically the public can make it so unpleasant for us that we would abandon automobilism."

"The drastic provisions of the new law," said he, "are aimed at the scoundrel and the reckless driver. Because this law is so fair I want to appeal through the Herald to every automobilist using the highways of New Jersey to faithfully observe it."

"A great many New York automobilists drive over the fine roads of New Jersey. These, and New Jersey automobilists as well, I earnestly ask for a most careful observance of the New Jersey law, and for courteous and considerate treatment of other users of the highway. I also couple with this appeal the stern warning that in New Jersey the automobilists are now on probation, and if the present sane law is abused the next Legislature will pass a law so drastic that automobilism will be robbed of its pleasure and the sport and industry set back a dozen years."

Pleased With Jersey Law.
Mr. Scarritt referred with keen satisfaction to the signing by Gov. Stokes of the measure amending the law of New Jersey. The new law will become operative June 1, and Mr. Scarritt regards it as being a long step in advance of any other automobil legislation.

The drastic provisions of the new law, said he, "are aimed at the scoundrel and the reckless driver. Because this law is so fair I want to appeal through the Herald to every automobilist using the highways of New Jersey to faithfully observe it."

BULLET IN NEIGHBOR'S HIP
Maplewood Men Quarrel Over Laying of Sewer Pipes and One Is Shot.

Julius Gerhart of Maplewood has a bullet wound in his hip and there is a warrant out for S. P. Crowder, his neighbor, charging him with assault to kill. The laying of sewer pipes by Gerhart is the cause of the trouble. Crowder has opposed it, claiming that they would empty on his property and has twice torn up the pipes. It is said Gerhart tried to get a restraining order and failed.

The men met Monday and quarreled and Gerhart was shot. He went to Clayton and obtained a warrant.

Jury Finds No Profits to Divide in New Drug Company.

A judgment for $10,500, 21 months' salary at $500 per month, has been awarded Bruno Batt against John T. Milliken & Co. by a jury in the court of Judge Kinsey.

Batt brought suit for that amount of salary and one-third of the profits of the company. He is a chemist and he alleged that he had contracted with the defendants to establish a drug and chemical manufacturing company, the agreement being that he should have one-third of the profits in addition to the salary of $500 monthly. The jury gave the plaintiff the salary, but found no profits to divide.

FORMER SENATOR SHOT BY EDITOR

Politics Cause Affray Between Ernest Marshall and Charles D. Patterson at Marshall, Mo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MARSHALL, Mo., May 31.—A quarrel and fight growing out of an interview, afterward repudiated and denounced, resulted in the shooting of ex-State Senator Ernest D. Marshall by Charles D. Patterson, former editor of the Democrat-News, here last night.

During the last campaign an interview with Marshall appeared in a Kansas City paper for which Patterson is correspondent. Marshall repudiated the interview and denounced Patterson in a speech made here soon after.

There has been bad blood ever since and a clash sooner or later has been expected. Tonight the men met on the north side of the city square and a quarrel followed.

Patterson drew his revolver, a .32 caliber, and began firing. At the first shot Marshall ran, the other shots went wild. Marshall was struck in the mouth, the bullet ranging downward and lodging in the neck up against the windpipe, causing a serious but not necessarily fatal wound.

Marshall was not armed. He received medical attendance and was removed to his home.

Patterson was arrested.

Memorial services were held at St. Peter's Cemetery under the auspices of McDowell Post, G. A. R.

The parade formed at the Metropolitan building as follows: Platoon of police commanded by Lieut. M. J. Doyle and Sergeant P. S. Gill; Holten's brass band; armed service men of the Spanish war; Capt. Miller, commanding; McDowell Post, G. A. R.; Ladies of the G. A. R.; Women's Relief Corps; Daughters of Veterans; classes of the public schools; carriages.

Promptly at 1:30 p. m. the parade moved up Missouri avenue to Main street, to Broadway, to Collinsville avenue, to Illinois avenue, to Tenth street where cars were taken to St. Peter's Cemetery.

Archibald; oration, Daniel McGlynn; song, "Long, Long Ago," school classes; reading of President Lincoln's address at Gettysburg; Miss Rose Marion; singing, "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America," school classes; benediction and decoration of graves.

SPEEDOMETER OF POLICE AUTO WRONG?

Chauffeur Tells Court It Isn't Reliable Testimony Against Scorchers.

The credibility of the police automobile speedometer was brought in question in the City Hall Police Court by a chauffeur, who was charged with exceeding the speed limit, but the defense did not avail.

William Walsingham was the chauffeur. After Policeman Stinger had testified that the police automobile was going 10 miles an hour and Walsingham's three times as fast when they met on Washington avenue, between Newstead and Walton avenues, Walsingham admitted that he might have been driving a shade faster than eight miles an hour, but denied that he was going as fast as Stinger said.

He then declared that the police speedometer was not worthy of belief. He had watched it as he was being taken to the Mounted District Station. It was particularly on Nigger Hill that his confidence in it was shaken.

He said that whereas it was well known that no machine could more than creep up between ten and fifteen miles an hour, the speedometer showed a speed of between ten and fifteen miles an hour.

Justice Stinger, who was sitting in place of Judge Tracy, could not bring himself to think that the police speedometer would misrepresent speed and he fined Walsingham $10.

The letter, then, might either come from Hudson, the seaman, saying that he had betrayed the guilty secret which appeared to exist, or it might come from Beddoes warning an old confederate that such a betrayal was imminent.

So far it seemed clear enough. But then, how could this letter be trivial and grotesque, as described by the son? He must have mis-read it. If so, it must have been one of those ingenious secret codes which mean one thing while they seem to mean another. I must see this letter. If there were a hidden meaning in it I was confident I could pluck it forth.

For an hour I sat pondering over it in gloom, until at last a weeping maid brought in a lamp, and close at her heels came my friend Trevor, pale but composed, with these very papers which lie upon my knee held in his grasp. He sat down opposite to me, drew the lamp to the edge of the table and handed me a short note, scribbled, as you see, upon a single sheet of paper. "The supply of game for London is going steadily up," it ran. "Head Keeper Hudson, we believe has been told to receive all orders for fly-paper and for preservation of your hen-pheasant's life."

"I daresay my face looked as bewildered
as yours did just now, when I first read this message. Then I re-read it very carefully. It was evidently as I had thought, and some secret meaning must lie buried in this strange com'ination of words. Or could it be that there was a prearranged significance to such phrases as 'fly-paper' and 'hen-pheasant'? Such a meaning would be arbitrary and could not be deduced in any way. And yet I was loath to believe that this was the case, and the presence of the word Hudson seemed to show that the subject of the message was as I had guessed, and that it was from Beddoes rather than the sailor. I tried it backward, but the combination 'life pheasant's hen' was not encouraging. Then I tried alternate words, but neither the 'of' or
'for' nor 'supply game London' promised to throw any light upon it.

"And then in an instant the key of the riddle was in my hands, and I saw that every third word, beginning with the first,
would give a message which might well drive old Trevor to despair.

"It was short and terse, the warning, as I now read it to my companion:
"The game is up. Hudson has told all.
Fly for your life!"

"Victor Trevor sank his face into his shaking hands. 'It must be that, I suppose,' said he. 'This is worse than death, for it means disgrace as well. But what is the meaning of these "head-keepers" and
"hen-pheasants"?'"

"It means nothing to the message, but it might mean a good deal to us if we had no other means of discovering the sender.

NO $100,000 SALARY PAID.

BY JOHN A. HOWLAND.

BEFORE you go any further, young man, there are no salaries paid in the United States now paying or promising to pay as much as $100,000 a year. President Roosevelt found his $100,000 man for the Panama Canal, but it was a bargain-counter deal and the man is getting only $35,000 salary. Some men who are on salaries are making $100,000 a year out of the position, but where they are it is because of stock investments in the concerns. The man who gets a salary of $50,000 a year is making good money, for almost any class of merely executive business brain and all beyond it is comparatively easy money.

In the world of business, according to dividend paying business principles, a man who might draw a salary of $100,000 a year would be required to turn into the profits of the concern in which he was employed at least three times the amount of his salary, says John A. Howland in the Chicago Tribune. It will be conceded that in the mere operating of a great commercial or manufacturing establishment this $100,000 man could have no place. Steel has always been regarded as the great field for big salaries in the industrial world, but when Clarke went from the International Harvester to the Presidency of the Lackawanna Steel, even the press agency figures stopped at $50,000 as his annual salary. Bird of the Vanderbilt system of railroads, is the recognized greatest authority on traffic in this country, with a salary somewhere between $25,000 and $40,000 a year. Paul Morton, as Second Vice-President of the Santa Fe, is supposed to have drawn $75,000 salary, and he had both prestige and ability for the position. Last year the bond expert in one of the smaller banks of Chicago made his $50,000, according to the best judgment of the story. But only $5000 of this was salary—the rest was the result of his knowledge of the bond market and his ability to invest for himself as he saw the opportunity.

There are 4000 physicians in Chicago, of all ages and conditions. Lumping the profession, the gossip of its members is that at least 1000 of these physicians earn less than $1200 a year; 2500 of them are earning from $1200 to $3000, and beyond $3000, and yet short of $100,000 a year are the remaining 100 of the medical directory.

One of the oldest technological schools in the country has kept a tab on its graduates in the class of 1894, when 185 were turned out into the field of practical arts. The results indicate a much higher salary for the technical man than for the practitioner of medicine. According to this tabulation the average salary for the 185 graduates of that year is $3002, with 45 of the graduates receiving salaries above this average, and nearly every individual receiving $1500 and over.

Evils of Child Labor.

"We believe in the eight-hour day," says Tom Watson in his magazine for June, "for labor in Government works, in factories, workshops and mines."

"We believe in the regulation of child labor in factories, workshops and mines, to the end that children of tender age shall not be made to slave out their lives in order that corporations shall have cheap labor and large dividends."

"Return, the old fable tells us, devoted his own children. Christian civilization do a the same thing."

"As long as we permit children of 10 and 12 years to labor from eight to fourteen hours per day in our mills and workshops modern civilization is another Saturn. We are devouring our own children."

Coming to Him.

"She is very rich, but she has a violent temper. Why, she throws anything she can lay her finger on at her husband."

"Why doesn't he leave her?"

"Because he's hoping that some day she'll forget herself and throw her money at him, too."—Detroit Free Press.

NEW MEXICAN TOWN WIPED OFF THE MAP

Lamesa Swept Away by Rio Grande Floods Let In by Breaking Dam.

EL PASO, TEX., IN DANGER

Inhabitants Building Dikes of Sandbags in Attempt to Confine Oncoming Flood.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
EL PASO, Tex., May 31.—Lamesa, New Mexico, was washed off the map by the breaking of a protecting dam in the Rio Grande River just above there under pressure of the terrific floods from combined melting of mountain snows and heavy rains.

The inhabitants had warning in time to flee to the hills and save themselves, but all their property and houses were lost. Chamberline, farther down the river, has been inundated, but the people had warning of what was coming in time to escape. They left their property behind and will lose much of it, but most of the houses will stand.

Breaking of the dam spread the water over ten miles territory. The floods are rushing on toward this city and every procurable laborer has been there under pressure of the terrific floods from combined melting of mountain snows and heavy rains.

Great fear is felt that the Mexican portion of the town will be inundated and swept away. Little protection can be afforded to it. It is mostly of adobe and will melt away like a sandpile. There is some fear too that the river may cut a new channel and throw part of the city over on the Mexican side of the border. This, however, will not affect the boundary of the two countries, that having been provided against by treaty, both the governments of the United States and Mexico taking cognizance of the treacherous nature of the Rio Grande.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 31.—A flag of the Confederacy flying side by side with the stars and stripes in front of the house, No. 122 Pennsylvania avenue, Brooklyn, the home of Col. Dean, formerly of Alabama, attracted much attention yesterday.

"When the blue and gray hold a reunion down South, the star spangled banner and the Confederate flag wave side by side," said Col. Dean, in explanation. "Surely no one can consistently object to my exhibiting the two emblems thus, for Old Glory is as much the flag of the people of the South as it is of the people of the North. Many a Southern man gave up his life in defending it in 1876, in 1892 and during the Spanish-American war."

PEACE CONGRESS ANNUAL MEETING AT LAKE MOHONK

President Gray Expresses Regret at Hard Jolts The Hague Convention Plans Have Received in the Past Year.

DISCUSSES SENATE'S TREATY REJECTIONS

Finds Encouragement Because President and Senate Only Disagreed on Method and Not the Spirit of Arbitration Documents

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., May 31.—The annual Lake Mohonk Conference on Arbitration was begun here today.

The opening address was made by the President, Judge George Gray, who was followed by Dr. Benj. F. Trueblood in an address on the "Year's Progress in International Arbitration."

In part Judge Gray said: "These annual gatherings at Lake Mohonk, to forward the cause of international arbitration, are of growing national importance, and I believe that their influence will become wider and stronger, until it is merged in a settled public opinion, which will measurably command the peace of the world by the firm establishment of international arbitration as the means of settling international controversies."

"We would have been cheered by the ratification of arbitration treaties between the United States and many of the powers signatory to The Hague Convention. Such treaties were concluded by the President with France, Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Portugal, Switzerland, Spain and Austria-Hungary. This hope has been woefully disappointed by their failure of ratification by the Senate, but we can congratulate ourselves that no loss of strength on that account has come to our cause. As in the case of the rejection by the Senate of the treaty of 1897, the result has been a widening circle of interest and discussion."

"It was not to be expected that this great reform and betterment of the world's conditions could be accomplished in the period of a generation. Old prejudices and habits of thought die out slowly. The world does not progress by leaps and bounds. But in the slow process of the ages we cannot fail to see the steady gain of humanity. The ground we have gained we will not lose."

"The Senate of the United States has not dissented, but has in effect approved the first article of the several arbitration treaties presented to it. That article contains the gravamen of the whole matter."

Treaties and Arbitrations.
Dr. Trueblood said in part:

"On Friday morning of our last year's conference here Mr. Smiley announced from this table that an arbitration treaty had just been signed between Spain and Portugal. This was the eighth. Since that time 22 other treaties have been signed, bringing the whole number up to 29."

"The Hague Court has not settled any dispute during the year."

"Arbitration disputes outside of the Hague Court has still gone on during the year, though no important cases have been handled in this way. The principal cases either settled, or in process of adjustment, are:

French-Venezuelan claims case.
The boundary question between Costa Rica and Panama.
The question of the indemnity claims of the Newfoundland French fishermen.
The Belvaux-Gravelle Company claims case.
A question of the boundary between Ecuador and Peru.
The Portuguese boundary controversy between Great Britain and Portugal.
The British-Brazilian Guiana boundary dispute.
The Swedish-Norwegian sea frontier dispute.
The Swedish-Brazilian Guiana boundary dispute, (originally submitted to arbitration but finally settled by compromise).
Kanton Island case between China and Korea.
The Venezuelan-Italian claims case.
The question of disputed boundaries between Brazil and Peru.
The San Domingo Improvement Co. case.
The Ecuador-Colombian boundary dispute.

The North Sea Incident.
"The most noteworthy international pacific settlement of the year was that of the North Sea incident between Great Britain and Russia. Though not technically an arbitration, the adjustment of the case was made under the terms of The Hague Convention and is, therefore, rightly to be considered in connection with arbitration proper. It called into operation the provisions of that convention for the creation of international commissions of inquiry in differences where the dispute was as to matters of fact, and has demonstrated anew the extraordinary wisdom and foresight which characterized the eminent men who sat in The Hague Convention."

TOGO SAYS HIS LOSS WAS 3 TORPEDO BOATS

there is a strong and bitter resentment against Russia, and little or no sympathy is felt for her in her hour of humiliation and defeat. Germany, France and also Great Britain are also blamed for the pitiful position of Russia, as it was declared freely that these nations had been responsible for robbing Japan of the fruits of the victory of the Chinese-Japanese war, aided by Russia herself, by forcing her to evacuate Port Arthur and accepting a money indemnity, brought on the present war.

"Russia," declared one ambassador, "is now reaping what she has sown. By breaking the peace of the Pacific and retaining control of Manchuria, she has brought upon herself her terrible predicament. She is now paying a terrible price for her perfidy and the lack of good faith."

One of the important developments since Togo's victory is a conference at the Russian embassy between the Russian ambassador and the French ambassador, France and Russia are allies and while the conference at the embassy may have had an important bearing on the peace situation, neither ambassador will admit that this is true, or even that there was a conference.

Terms of Peace Speculation.
Another important consideration before peace negotiations begin are the terms which can be agreed upon. Those who discussed this subject today are of the opinion that no nation will have the temerity to suggest that Japan be robbed of the fruits of its victory. Port Arthur, at least, will be retained by the Japanese, they say, and the first consideration will be the absolute and immediate retirement of Russia from Manchuria.

Japan will also demand that Russia withdraw her little navy it has left from the China Sea, and keep its warships out of these waters for a long term of years, or perhaps permanently. This last condition, they declare, Japan has a right to exact, as the presence of Russian ships of war in these waters would be a menace to the peace of Japan. A monetary consideration will probably have to be paid, but as to the amount that is a question about which few suggestions were made. In the event of peace there would be other conditions.

SECOND SEA BATTLE REPORTED AS FOUGHT.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, May 31.—A special to the Times from St. Petersburg says that, basing the belief on the report of the cruiser Almaz, which has already reached Vladivostok, the Russian admiralty feels certain that a second naval battle took place to the north of the scene of Saturday's conflict, in which whatever of the Russian ships escaped the first engagement were defeated and destroyed.

The afternoon dispatches show that St. Petersburg officials have practically given up hope of Rojstvensky's escape. Yesterday's report that the Russian commander-in-chief was at Vladivostok has been disproved.

A special to the Express from its Kobe (Japan) correspondent says that when the battle of Saturday was at its height the Russian sailors and officers became panic-stricken by the seemingly wizard-like maneuvers of the Japanese gunners, and many of them threw themselves overboard and deserted their ships while the vessels were in no danger of sinking.

The dispatch says: "The long-range fire of the Japanese was deadly, and there was no chance to reply, because the Japanese had chosen their own range which no Russian ship could equal."

"Then came the Japanese torpedo-boat attack, which completed the demoralization of the Russians and their crew took to their boats before the torpedoes had gone home in most cases. Those who remained on their vessels were hurled into the water by the explosions that followed and many saved themselves only by clinging to pieces of wreckage."

"The waters nearest the place of battle were alive with Russian seamen, desperately striving to make land in small ship-boats or clinging to masses of wreckage. Small Japanese merchantmen and pleasure ships have gone out to pick up all the survivors they can find."

"They have rescued already several hundred men, many of whom are wounded, and all in a state of extreme exhaustion. They were in desperate straits. The boats in which they had sought refuge were badly provisioned and the range of hunger and thirst added to the terrors of the heavy seas."

"A disabled Russian cruiser carrying 300 officers and men appeared opposite Hamada, which is on the mainland of Japan, opposite the scene of the battle last night. She flew the white flag and as soon as she was sighted a Government boat was dispatched to escort her to shore and to offer the survivors a ready welcome."

"The officials of the Japanese Red Cross Society went out in a launch to give such aid as they could to the wounded and carried them to temporary quarters near Yamaguchi, which is at the southwest of the Japanese mainland and not far from Hamada."

"Fifty-five Russian sailors, some of them wounded, have been picked up 18 miles off Mishiima. Twenty-three of the crew of the Russian cruiser Aurora were landed at Mishiima on Monday and 10 refugees were rescued on Tuesday in the same vicinity.

"These survivors tell innumerable stories of individual heroism during the battle. None is more thrilling than that of a young sailor who gave up his place on a piece of plank to make room and save the life of a lieutenant of the battleship Alexander III. The lieutenant, who was popular with the crew, was ill at the time of the attack. The heroic sailor was rescued by a passing boat, but died from the effects of exposure, as did many of his comrades."

PROMINENT MEN SAY WORLD WANTS PEACE.

In response to queries from the Post-Dispatch, the following expressions of prominent men and peace advocates have been received:

"Outside interference will avail little, even if made in the name of humanity, which was doomed when Japan drew the sword."

"What we need is an alliance of nations strong enough to enforce a peaceful settlement of international disputes of the future. France, Great Britain, America and Germany could do this. They acted together in China; why not again?"—Andrew Carnegie.

"The civilized world wishes for immediate peace between Russia and Japan. The Russian bureaucracy stands against it for its life with the blessings of the priests. All depends upon the courage and firmness of the Russian party of progress, or a sudden fit of conscience in the person of the Czar and his having the strength of mind to back it. Outsiders beat the air in vain."—George Meredith.

"President Roosevelt is the only man in the world who is in a position to suggest peace. He could do so voluntarily without jeopardizing the dignity of the nation. There has been enough slaughter. We are friendly with both Japan and Russia, and if the President took the initiative, the belligerents would know that he was acting only from humanitarian motives. I am convinced that such a move would be applauded by not only the foreign ambassadors here but the people of the world, who are shocked at the enormous loss of life in the war in the Far East."—Jonathan W. Dolliver, Senator from Iowa.

"I believe some reasonable basis of settlement could be reached so as to stop the awful slaughter. In my judgment President Roosevelt is the only man in the world who is in a position to propose that anything be done in this direction. We are friendly to both Russia and Japan, and they know our motives are honest and anything we might do would be with humanitarian motives. It is plain to the world that the slaughter in this war is simply stupefying, and everyone would welcome a conclusion of hostilities. I trust President Roosevelt will see his way clear to take some steps which will stop the conflict. Such an act on his part would be appreciated by the people of the whole world."—Shelby M. Culom, United States Senator from Illinois.

bois and chairman of Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"These Japanese victories have significance from the fact that they must for a long time weaken the prestige and power of Russia in Asia, giving a more free hand to Great Britain. Japan has yet had in Asiatic affairs no very important 'pull' and so such a victory is of great consequence to these islands, in that Russia must be so occupied restoring her army and navy, and also in meeting the demands of her people for reforms at home that she will have much less influence in Europe than formerly."

"As to the effect of these recent victories on the termination of the war, they can hardly fail to influence both the governing classes and the people with the need of peace."—Andrew D. White, former Minister to Russia.

TALBERT B. P. I. ENGINEER.
President O'Reilly Names Former World's Fair Employee.

Charles M. Talbert, 421 Mountain avenue, was Wednesday appointed civil engineer to the Board of Public Improvements by President O'Reilly of that board. He succeeds Frank O. Ray.

Talbert is a graduate of Missouri State University. He was with the Mississippi River Commission for several years, and during the construction of the World's Fair was assistant to John A. Ockerson, chief of the Liberal Arts Department.

OBJECTS TO STEPCHILDREN.
Mrs. Lisette Kessell filed a suit for divorce Wednesday against Charles Kessell, proprietor of a furnishing goods store at 221 Market street. She alleges that they were married Jan. 31 last and that she left her husband May 30.

At the time of the marriage Kessell was a widower with four children. The wife says that contrary to agreement, the husband has installed the children in their home and that their presence made life unbearable for her.

Warrant for Soap Salesman.
A warrant charging embezzlement by bailie was issued Wednesday against Wm. L. Dowdell, formerly employed as a city salesman for a soap company of which T. G. Sommerer is the St. Louis agent. Sommerer says that Dowdell obtained an order for five cases of soap from T. E. Whitcomb, a druggist at Garrison and Washington avenues; that he delivered one case, collecting $20.00, and otherwise disposed of the other four cases.

tral and Smith gained a lead over the others and it appeared as if these schools would fight it out between them. Manual pulled up on the second relay, however, and when the final lap was reached, Weber, Central's star sprinter, led off several yards ahead of Lewis, who took the last lap for Manual. Both boys had been competing in many events during the afternoon and were tired. Lewis possessed the greater stamina and crossed the line a few feet in front of Weber. Both were completely exhausted.

One of the surprises of the meet was the failure of Weber of Central to win the 100-yard dash. He was off to a bad start and was nipped at the tape by his teammate, Oliver. Weber won the 200-yard dash without trouble.

The hurdles produced some fine sport. Percy Blackmer came home first in the 100-yard hurdle, but in the low hurdle race at 200-yards, Taylor of Manual proved the stronger and won. Both Blackmer and Taylor did excellent work in these events.

GRADERS COVERING "BRADDOCK'S ROCK"

Reclamation Work on the Potomac at Washington Threatens Historic Landmark.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Interest in the proper marking of Braddock's rock has been aroused recently, and indications are that this landmark of colonial times will be fittingly preserved. The famous rock on the old Naval Observatory grounds jutted into deep water when Braddock's British army, accompanied by George Washington, landed there on their way to the river to recede, and the rock is now on land, threatened with covering of earth, which would bury it from sight.

At a recent meeting the commissioners of the District of Columbia received a letter from Mrs. Josephine T. Swann and Mrs. S. Woodbury, of the Colonial Dames, saying that the fence the society had erected around the rock had been destroyed, and that the rock is being filled over in the work of reclaiming the Potomac flats and the lowlands along the river front. Col. Biddle, engineer commissioner, at once sent Assistant Engineer Grubill to investigate the matter.

Mr. Grubill found on the King map of Washington of 1848 a prominent shape like the rock now designated as "Braddock's Rock," but not so called on the map. At that time the rock projected into the river, indicated as being of some depth at this point. There is some discrepancy in the location of the rock with reference to the south line of Reservation No. 4, in which the Naval Museum of Hygiene is now located, but Engineer Grubill is certain that it is within the reservation, and therefore, not under the jurisdiction of the District authorities. He reports that the elevation of the rock is about 15 feet above mean low water, and that the surrounding ground has been filled to about eight feet above the rock.

This description is given of the location of the rock: "Fifty feet out from the southeast corner of the wall of the observatory. Go up the wall to the first angle, 50 feet out from that, and perpendicular to it. It is on the land, and not in water."

It is believed that the Colonial Dames or some other patriotic association will take it upon themselves to properly mark the spot. There is no appropriation available by which the District can fittingly mark this long, tapering U-shaped rock, but some movement may be inaugurated to secure an appropriation from Congress for the purpose. The Commissioners will probably refer the request of the Colonial Dames to the naval authorities.

INNOCENT BLUE EYES DID NO GO

Compelling Orbs of Pretty Snake Charmer Affected Not Cold-Blooded Justice.

SCRIBNER GOT HIS DIVORCE

Only Point on Which Court Had Doubt Was Definition of Beer and a Bloater.

NEW YORK, May 31.—With her baby-blue eyes fixed on Justice Leventritt in wide-open innocent amazement, Mrs. Maud Scribner yesterday sat in court by the side of a co-respondent and without the droop of an eyelash heard the justice tell her husband he was entitled to a divorce, as the Court was clearly convinced his wife was faithless.

That rare China-blue eye of the slender and pretty young wife, however, had seen animals more terrifying, in a way, than a frowning justice, and conquered them. She had traveled with a circus owned by her husband, Samuel A. Scribner, now a theatrical man, and as Mme. Somebody or other had been a famous snake charmer, twisting scaly convolutions about her waist, arms and neck and looking into beady eyes with her own cold orbs, and putting boas out of business as easily as she did the lions in the second act in the circus. But nobody in the courtroom belonged to any menagerie she had ever trained, so the divorce goes, blue eyes or no blue eyes, snake charmer, lion tamer or not. She had fought the case hard, to save her name, she said. The co-respondent, Charles M. Higgins, of Detroit, came on here for the same purpose. He sat by the side of Mrs. Scribner in court, with Mr. Scribner across the room and paying no attention to them.

The evidence of yesterday was interesting in the general and specific denials made to everything by Mrs. Maud Scribner; by her sister, Mrs. Madge Brooks, a pretty young woman who seemed to enjoy the attention she invited in a tan automobile coat and huge hat, with leaves of grass where there weren't crowded the reddish red roses, and by the co-respondent, Higgins. He calmly told the Court he would deny the charges if they were true concerning a lady, with a marked emphasis on the "lady."

And She Came From Detroit.
As the first witness yesterday Mrs. Brooks said she had known Higgins for about nine years in Detroit, and denied he ever went home with her sister. The witness also denied she was intoxicated on a certain night.

"Well, were you ever intoxicated?" "I can't say," smiled the witness. "I might have had a month or so stronger than a cordial, black pop or beer."

Seeing nothing to be made there, counsel for Mr. Scribner called to his wife the snake-charming defendant. With that same cool look in her china blue eyes, but in a voice of sincerity, she said she never, never remarked to her husband when he found Higgins in her room. "I am only human," Mrs. Scribner said, and on the evening of October 6 last she visited the Pure Food Show with Higgins and other friends. "The party separated before she reached her home, and Higgins saw her home."

"When I got to the door I noticed," she said, "that there was no light in the hall, and asked Mr. Higgins to light the gas. He did so, and was about to leave, when I asked him to stay and have a bottle of beer. I went into my bedroom and put on my kimono over my clothes, and we had the bottle of beer and were drinking it when a rap came to the door. I started, open the door, and Higgins followed me and said not to open the door until I knew who was there, and opened the door, however, and Murphy (a detective), my husband and Gates walked in. Murphy introduced my husband to Higgins, and said to Higgins, 'You are the co-respondent in this case.'"

Was Afraid of Burglars.
"Did your husband say anything to you?" "Yes," he said. "Well, I have found you out at last. I said that I did not know he was in town. I was fully dressed at the time."

"Why did you invite Higgins to stay?" "I was afraid of burglars, and the hall was dark, and I wanted him to look and see if there were any in the flat."

"How long did it take you to look for the burglars?" "Seven or eight minutes."

"Did you find any?" "No."

"Then you thought you would ask Mr. Higgins to have a bottle of beer?" "Yes."

MIND WAS A BLANK FROM HIS INFANCY

Pastor of Little Church Around the Corner Takes Up Case and Boy Is Developing.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 30.—Extraordinary significance attached to the presence of Jack Parry, a boy of 16, among the youthful candidates for confirmation in the Little Church Around the Corner yesterday afternoon. It was more than the spiritual uplifting of a soul. It meant to the boy and to his parents and friends the mental resurrection of a soul which had been practically dormant since birth. His participation in the exercises was public proof that what his parents had always believed was a hopelessly enfeebled mind had come forth into the light of intelligence and understanding.

Up to two months ago Jack Parry was mentally an infant. In all other respects he was exceptionally well endowed, but he possessed neither memory nor reasoning power. He is now under treatment at the suggestion of the Rev. Dr. George C. Houghton, pastor of the Little Church Around the Corner, after physicians had given him up.

Jack's little sister, Grace, and brother, William, are members of the Sunday School of the Little Church Around the Corner. William is one of the most valued singers in the choir. He brought his unfortunate brother to church one day and Dr. Houghton was once became interested. Dr. Houghton was preparing Grace Parry for confirmation and he determined to make every effort to teach Jack enough of the doctrine of the church to permit of the rites of confirmation.

Mr. and Mrs. Parry consented to the request of Dr. Houghton that their boy be examined. Dr. Edward S. Howard said that Jack's brain was not diseased, but that it was not properly connected with the spinal cord. All that would be required to restore arrested development would be to effect the necessary union of cells, if this were possible. On March 13, Dr. Howard began treatments.

Within a fortnight it became apparent that the dawn of reason was breaking in the boy's mind. A simple test was made to gauge the progress. Across the avenue from the physician's office a candy store with a big lettered sign, Jack heard the names of the letters and gradually managed to repeat them. He carried them in his memory during the intervals of treatment. The first words that he learned to spell were "chocolate and bonbons." His parents could scarcely credit the joyful news that Jack had given proof that he might still be saved.

But his memorizing the letters on the candy store sign was really his first step in education. Little by little the capacity of his brain enlarged, and now he can spell all the words that a child learns in his first reader.

Dr. Houghton was little less rejoiced than the parents at the signs of the boy's progress. With indistinct sentences the pastor gave Jack instruction necessary before giving confirmation. In addition to the ability to memorize, there has sprung up in the boy's brain the power to reason, the force of initiative, the desire to do and to excel. He now asks intelligent questions, finds his way about alone and delights in music and pictures, in conversation and in the theater.

ELKS HONOR THEIR DEAD.

One hundred and forty St. Louis members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Tuesday decorated the graves of 11 members in Elk's Rest in Bellefontaine Cemetery. This is one of the prettiest spots in the cemetery. A magnificent statue of an elk rises commanding in the center of the circle, and around it are ranged the 11 well-kept graves.

The party went to the graveyard in a private trolley car. Alfred M. Baker, exalted ruler, and J. F. Holmuth and W. T. Wylie were in charge of the ceremonies. A band and a quartette furnished impressive music. Mr. Baker delivered the principal address, which was an eloquent tribute to the virtues of the departed brethren and the higher purposes of the Elks' organization.

But his memorizing the letters on the candy store sign was really his first step in education. Little by little the capacity of his brain enlarged, and now he can spell all the words that a child learns in his first reader.

Dr. Houghton was little less rejoiced than the parents at the signs of the boy's progress. With indistinct sentences the pastor gave Jack instruction necessary before giving confirmation. In addition to the ability to memorize, there has sprung up in the boy's brain the power to reason, the force of initiative, the desire to do and to excel. He now asks intelligent questions, finds his way about alone and delights in music and pictures, in conversation and in the theater.

ELKS HONOR THEIR DEAD.

One hundred and forty St. Louis members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Tuesday decorated the graves of 11 members in Elk's Rest in Bellefontaine Cemetery. This is one of the prettiest spots in the cemetery. A magnificent statue of an elk rises commanding in the center of the circle, and around it are ranged the 11 well-kept graves.

The party went to the graveyard in a private trolley car. Alfred M. Baker, exalted ruler, and J. F. Holmuth and W. T. Wylie were in charge of the ceremonies. A band and a quartette furnished impressive music. Mr. Baker delivered the principal address, which was an eloquent tribute to the virtues of the departed brethren and the higher purposes of the Elks' organization.

MIND WAS A BLANK FROM HIS INFANCY

But Now, After Treatment, Jack Parry, Aged 16, Is Beginning to Talk and Reason.

GIVEN UP BY PHYSICIANS

Pastor of Little Church Around the Corner Takes Up Case and Boy Is Developing.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 30.—Extraordinary significance attached to the presence of Jack Parry, a boy of 16, among the youthful candidates for confirmation in the Little Church Around the Corner yesterday afternoon. It was more than the spiritual uplifting of a soul. It meant to the boy and to his parents and friends the mental resurrection of a soul which had been practically dormant since birth. His participation in the exercises was public proof that what his parents had always believed was a hopelessly enfeebled mind had come forth into the light of intelligence and understanding.

Up to two months ago Jack Parry was mentally an infant. In all other respects he was exceptionally well endowed, but he possessed neither memory nor reasoning power. He is now under treatment at the suggestion of the Rev. Dr. George C. Houghton, pastor of the Little Church Around the Corner, after physicians had given him up.

Jack's little sister, Grace, and brother, William, are members of the Sunday School of the Little Church Around the Corner. William is one of the most valued singers in the choir. He brought his unfortunate brother to church one day and Dr. Houghton was once became interested. Dr. Houghton was preparing Grace Parry for confirmation and he determined to make every effort to teach Jack enough of the doctrine of the church to permit of the rites of confirmation.

Mr. and Mrs. Parry consented to the request of Dr. Houghton that their boy be examined. Dr. Edward S. Howard said that Jack's brain was not diseased, but that it was not properly connected with the spinal cord. All that would be required to restore arrested development would be to effect the necessary union of cells, if this were possible. On March 13, Dr. Howard began treatments.

Within a fortnight it became apparent that the dawn of reason was breaking in the boy's mind. A simple test was made to gauge the progress. Across the avenue from the physician's office a candy store with a big lettered sign, Jack heard the names of the letters and gradually managed to repeat them. He carried them in his memory during the intervals of treatment. The first words that he learned to spell were "chocolate and bonbons." His parents could scarcely credit the joyful news that Jack had given proof that he might still be saved.
